Big Debts Common in Small Villages in Rural China

19 September, 23. Theepochtimes.com

In 2019 a survey by Agriculture and Rural Affairs of China, showed that the administrative debt of 700,000 village's debt had reached 900 billion yuan.

Wang He, a political commentator, said money was scammed by rural village tyrants and cadres through projects being run in the villages, resulting in a large collective debt.

David Huang, a Chinese American economist said 900 billion Yuan, was just a proportional estimate., He said that since village leaders only serve one or two terms, they often use political position to gain finances to support their personal interests. These leaders do not care about the people, they only care about the availability of funds during their term of office.

According to mainland media, in May this year, some of the small villages in Shanxi, Shandong, and Liaoning assassinated these villages' officials and their families, the behaviour resulted in 18 deaths and one injury.

In another well-known incident in Wukan village in Guangdong province over the years between 2011 and 2016, the villagers protested against the village officials. This resulted in many deaths and arrests of the villagers.

Since the abolition of agriculture taxes in 2006, local government has been increasingly raising money through land sales, even to extent of snatching farmers' land, such conflicts between farmers and local officials have caused trouble throughout mainland China.

Rural debt is not only an economic issue, but also a political, and social issue.

CCP Increase Strengthen Brainwashing in the Hong Kong Education System

Chinese University Students in Hong Kong held a ceremonial flag raising to mark the start of the school term on 4 September. Students' costumes are similar to those of the Liberation Army in China, and the Hong Kong Youth Army, with green as the main colour.

7/ 9/ 2023 The Epochtimes H.K

The Hong Kong Education Bureau announced in Hong Kong, that next year students are required to go to the mainland on exchanges that will include military training.

The Party's views regarding the move to Hong Kong have not change since June 4th in 1989. Since 1989, all middle school and college students on the mainland have been required to participate in military training. This training has included intensive scrutiny of their fake documents, standing to attention, marching, going on military manoeuvres at night and singing the military song.

In the past, some left-leaning schools in Hong Kong have also organized military training experience for students at camps at different locations on the mainland. However, in 2016 it was reported that a military academy instructor sneaked into girls's dormitory in the early morning and was accused of molesting five girls. The students left the camp immediately and called the police for help. A similar case was reported in another school months later in a different army camp.

From the CCP took back Hong Kong in 1997, the party has used regulations to limit people's freedoms and to follow Communist Ideology.

They promised Hong Kong would remain unchanged for 50 years after handover. In the Agreement it was pointed out that Hong Kong was permitted its own electoral commission, the continuation of democracy and their culture, [local Cantonese culture], but in fact it was all a lie.

Were all these Incidents a Coincidences?

In a Prime Minister's Election Debate. The television station, the host asked both party leaders the question: What do you think about human rights issues in China? Both leaders gave a very simple answer, – “This was an agreement.” After that they put the question away, or they agreed to answer the question at a later date?

After the debate it was reported that Queenstown's water was contaminated with cryptosporidium, in Parnell, Auckland, the main sewer pipe collapsed creating a deep hole in the road, and Mad Cow disease returned to the Waikato resulting in hundreds of cows having to be killed.

Look back at our past news:

Havelock North's water was contaminated in 2016.

Kiwifruit PSA disease occurred in 2010.

Mad Cow Disease happened in 2008 and 2012.

Perhaps it was the same today after the government ignored the human rights issues in the public arena. I wonder whether we can really call these incidents a coincidence.

A Large Number of CCP Members Died from the Epidemic

July 2, 2023. New Tang Dynasy News.

In the three years since the outbreak of the COVID-19 epidemic, a large number of party members have died across China.

In early December 2022, China suddenly ended its “clearance” epidemic prevention policy and this triggered the epidemic to become a tsunami. Hospitals and crematoria were overfull and working over time. In the reports from the Party’s official media, they stated that treatment was ineffective for these people were due to illness. However, they didn’t mention the specific cause of the disease.

Because a lot of people continue die, the CCP no longer simply collects data on infections and deaths also rarely reports the data on the cremation of remains.

On January 16, 2023. Master Li, the founder of Falun Dafa, pointed out that the CCP has been covering up the epidemic; it has killed 400 million people, and when this epidemic is over, the death toll will reach a total of 500 million. In March 2020 in Master Li’s article, he states that people should Stay rational, pointing out that people should distance themselves from the CCP and stop siding with the party. Because behind it is the red Devil.

Getting out of the Global Crisis

12, October, 2023 Epochtime

When the virus struck around the world, Mark Hutchison needed to make the bravest decision ever, and that was to move his business out of China. This was necessary to ensure his business would survive the global turmoil.

Mark started a Bamboo flooring company in Western Australian, where the factory that produced his tiles was based in China. His creative abilities helped his business to successfully expand. These achievements brought him many awards, such as the under 40 year old age business leadership award.

Mark grew up in a single parent family, where he grew up in poverty. As his mother struggled to feed them, he became super adaptable. At the peak of his career, he had a serious illness, his weight went from 96 kilo to 70 kilogram. His brother is a Falun Dafa practitioner and suggested he practice Falun Dafa with him. So when he read the book “Zhuan Falun” he saw that this was a good method that would help him with his health and to become a better person.

Mark knew his lifestyle caused an imbalance in his spirit. He was very proud of himself as he worked among the business elite. He rarely paid attention to news around the world. What was important to him, was money, a house, a wife, and a successful career.

After practicing Falun Gong for a short time his health returned. Mark said people’s moral values have collapsed, and they needed to return to the major principle of Truth, Compassion, and Forbearance. Business enterprises need to give back to society, and not only care about their own interests.

As Mark has continued to practice the truth, Compassion, Forbearance. This has impressed the people around him, including his staff who support him. They saw the positive impact it had on them all. Mark understood the agenda behind the crisis. The crisis words in the Chinese language were said as, danger and opportunity, bad and good exist together at the same time. In time, he realized how evil the CCP was, as the live organ harvesting for trade, was exposed showing that their behaviour was beyond that of any human being. Mark began to examine his conscience, and that he should not continue to do the business with the CCP. As the Chinese government had financial influence to maintain their regime stability, and would make the persecution of opposition dissidents, continue longer.

Mark redeveloped his wood floor business, which increased by 20%. This was because he made the right choice, of moving out of China. This was a choice for justice, and he was successful and avoided bankruptcy. His excellent new products won an award in August 2023.
