Death of the Professor was linked to Organ Harvesting

The Epochtimes. 09, February, 2024

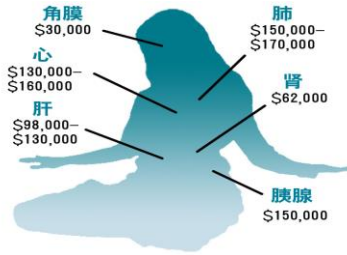

Dr. Joseph Lau Wan-ye, a Hong Kong expert in liver cancer treatment and transplantation, died at the age of 76 on Feb. 7. During his career, he had close ties with hospitals and doctors who were suspected of participating in forced organ harvesting from prisoners of conscience in China, according to a rights group.

Born in Hong Kong in 1947, Dr. Lau graduated from the Faculty of Medicine of the University of Hong Kong in 1972 and was promoted to professor of surgery in 1993 at the Chinese University of Hong Kong (CUHK). During his career, he served as an honorary or visiting professor at various prestigious universities and hospitals in China, Southeast Asia, Australia, Europe, and the United States.

Dr. Lau joined the faculty at CUHK in 1989. In 2003, he earned the highest academic title—an academican of the Chinese Academy of Sciences (CAS). He was also the chairman of the Hong Kong Medical Council for the past nearly 12 years.

Dr. Lau was an expert in hepato-pancreato-biliary surgery and was reportedly the first surgeon in the world to pioneer a segment-based liver resection.

In 1990, he played a key role in establishing the liver transplant center at CUHK. He was one of the pioneers of liver transplantation in Hong Kong and Southeast Asia, having started living-donor liver transplantation at an early stage, according to Chinese news reports.

Forced Organ Harvesting

Dr. Lau’s expertise allowed him to establish an extensive network of international doctors and researchers. He promoted research and cooperation with Chinese doctors and hospitals. He was a visiting professor at Sun Yat-sen University, Huazhong University of Science and Technology, the People’s Liberation Army General Hospital, and more than a dozen other medical research institutions in China, all of which were involved in hepatobiliary and pancreatic surgery, according to government records.

On April 30, 2014, an international multicenter clinical project and research forum was held at Nanjing Gulou Hospital in China, hosted by Dr. Ding Yitao. Dr. Lau was among the attendees, along with professor Dong Jiahong of the People’s Liberation Army General Hospital, professor Fan Jia of Zhongshan Hospital of Fudan University, professor Li Xiangcheng of the Jiangsu Provincial People’s Hospital, among others.

It is noteworthy that almost all of the hospitals and doctors mentioned above are suspected of live organ harvesting, according to investigations by the World Organization to Investigate the Persecution of Falun Gong (WOIPFG). Falun Gong, also known as Falun Dafa, is a spiritual practice involving meditative exercises and moral teachings centered on the principles of truthfulness, compassion, and tolerance. In the 1990s, the practice grew by word of mouth to reach as many as 100 million adherents in China by 1999.

The Chinese Communist Party, perceiving the practice's popularity as a threat to the communist regime's grip on power, launched a sweeping repression campaign in 1999, vowing to eliminate Falun Gong and its believers.

The London-based China Tribunal in 2019 concluded that forced organ harvesting had been taking place in the country on a "significant scale." While Falun Gong practitioners were the primary target group, the tribunal found that other suppressed religious communities, such as Tibetans and Uyghurs, were also victims.

On April 24, 2021, WOIPFG released a report on Nanjing Gulou Hospital and individuals allegedly involved with live organ harvesting of Falun Gong practitioners. According to the report, the hospital had a strong team of liver and kidney transplant doctors and many beds. The waiting time for organ transplants was very short. Although the hospital was unable to account for the origin of the organs, some doctors admitted to having harvested the organs of Falun Gong practitioners. Moreover, the report claimed that Dr. Ding primarily led the initiative.

The WOIPFG reported that Jiangsu Provincial People's Hospital allegedly participated in live organ harvesting. A kidney transplant doctor at the hospital told WOIPFG investigators, "There is no guarantee that the kidney source was a voluntary donor."

Honorary Professor

Dr. Lau was an honorary professor at China's People's Liberation Army General Hospital, the largest military hospital in China. On April 27, 2021, the WOIPFG released a report on the suspected live organ harvesting conducted at this hospital. The report states that the People's Liberation Army General Hospital is responsible for liver transplants for officials in the Chinese Communist Party's (CCP) central government, provincial government, and in the military ranks. According to the report, the transplant department at the hospital has a questionable source of organs and can provide multiple donors for one patient, guaranteeing liver replacement within one week. It also provides a “selection” of organs to local hospitals.

The People’s Liberation Army General Hospital had frequent exchanges and collaborations with international medical professionals, and Dr. Lau was closely associated with the hospital as he was a visiting professor, according to WOIPFG.

Chen Huanwei, a former student of Dr. Lau’s, was listed by WOIPFG as a surgeon who was allegedly involved with live organ harvesting at the First People’s Hospital of Foshan. Between December 1999 and December 2021, Dr. Chen allegedly participated in 13 split liver transplants and 15 other liver transplants between May 2011 and December 2012, the report said. From March 2003 to December 2006, he was involved in 28 living-donor liver transplantations, and the supposed “donors” all had no liver diseases.

In 1998, Dr. Lau was a visiting professor at the First People’s Hospital of Foshan, where he trained surgeons and other medical professionals. Dr. Chen later studied under Dr. Lau at the Prince of Wales Hospital in Hong Kong in 2002 and became a leading liver transplant surgeon in China. In addition, Dr. Lau was also a visiting professor at Xiangya Hospital of Central South University and the First Hospital of Jilin University in China, according to Chinese news reports.

WOIPFG also listed Xiangya Hospital and First Hospital as suspected venues for live organ harvesting.

Pet Mobile Cremation Vehicles on the Street

The Epochtimes, 12 January 2024

Recently netizens have discovered that "pet mobile cremation vehicles" are on the streets, they discussed on social media. The pet mobile cremation vehicle is 5.3 meters long, 2 meters wide, 2.47 meters high, and a total weight of 3.51 tons. It can incinerate up to 120 kilograms of pets at a time. It claims that the combustion process is smoke-free, no exhaust, and odorless, and it has legal and non-toxic properties. Qualified for hazardous chemical treatment, up to 30 pets can be fully cremated without any debris.

A man, said, "The person who invented this vehicle gave it a very logical-sounding name, called the 'Pet Harmless' incineration vehicle, but can it be used to burn people as well? It could kill in silence? burn and destroy all traces of evidence?" The maximum weight can be 120 kilograms. Is 120 kilograms enough? How much does a child's weigh?

"The mobile pet cremation vehicles are of the fourth generation, which means that the previous three generations have been in service. No wonder so many young people and children have disappeared from all China for no reason. It is estimated that there are organ transplant operating vehicles are equipped with them.

Organ donation

There was an organ donation activity called “Big Love Deliver to a life” in the schools and is expanding rapidly. Their activities included songs, dances, operas, dramas, storytelling etc. it attracts the children to support. The students were excited and eager to hear the story telling, which brings tears to their eyes. Showing they have a sense of justice that is needed in the world. The children were greatly affected and expressed their willingness to donate their organs for free and accept to be tested and signed up to become a donor.

CCP doing this is to surpass the United States and hope to become the world’s largest country in organ donation and transplantation. After children sign the agreement voluntarily, they all become live supply chain donors. One netizen said.

The Regulations on Human Organ Donation and Transplantation announced by the State Council of the CCP on 14, December 2023, will be implemented on 1 of May 2024.

More than 2,000 organ harvesters will be trained to work with certificates. Corpse burning trucks will be running in the streets, and alleys to encourage the three-child policy. The CCP has found a big business, which is to supply human organs to the world.

Western Media Should Put this news on the Front Page

Marco Respinti, director of the multilingual online magazine Bitter Winter.
17/ 12/ 2023 – The Epochtimes

The issue of live organ harvesting by the CCP should always be on the front page of media reports. Mr Marco Respinti. A executive editor and journalist of Italian-based religious freedom magazine “Bitter Winter” The media has an important role and have a huge responsibility, and they can easily being the best defenders of victims, make public accusations and become a court of public health. However, the CCP has seriously penetrated Western media and even tried to control the right to speak. Marco said: The Chinese Embassy called journalists to accused them of reporting on organ harvesting, they tries to silence journalists in this news.

In 2022, the Chinese Embassy in Italy put pressure on the “Panorama magazine” to eliminate the impact of the article about the CCP’s organ harvesting from living Falun Gong practitioners, Uyghurs, Xinjiang and other prisoners of conscience. Panorama Magazine was public responded to rejected. As a journalist, I saw a huge black hole, sometimes they [foreign media] choose to remain silent. In Italy’s major media, there are full-page pro-communist propaganda paid by the Chinese Communist Party. The CCP is very influential in foreign media and tries to silence journalists.

When the media remain silent, they were play another important role in the other direction- complicit in the persecutors. Marco said: Sometimes Western reporters simply repeat the CCP's official statistes and repeat the lies.

Torsten Trey, the executive director of DAFOH said: The medical industry has been weaponized by the Chinese government, including the news media. The CCP forces Falun Gong practitioners to give up Falun Gong, If that they not follow CCP, then torture them to death and harvest their organ in alive. The CCP's organ harvesting is not an isolated medical abuse, but involves all professions.

The economic threat brings not just newspapers but the governments and other organizations it's have been control. Actually different profession fields have being weaponized by the CCP, It's a widespread problem. Why do we have so many different members from different background in our group? I think, we have to do this, we have to fight the coercion from the CCP. For example, breaking the silence of the media. We must allow everyone to speak out and to understand the real behide of this persecution. This is the power of each individual to respond.

Darwin's Theory of Evolution

25-July-2023

I joined St Mary's Fatima parish in Macau, a Working Youth Christians group in the late 1970's. The Tutor was Father Ko. At each meeting before Bible study, he would report the church's general news to us. One time he looked severe and tensely announced the news that, that the Pope had accepted the Darwin's theory of Evolution. The theory claimed that humans had developed from animals.

In the Bible it states that God made man and wide variety of flora and fauna. It did not mention that people were developed from animals. Why did Pope agreed with that theory of evolution ? We were wondering. Father Ko explained the evolution process for a while but he lacked some persuasiveness. We listened quietly and asked some questions, but did not go against his report from Rome. It doesn't matter, who cares! I thought. I did not think about the Darwinian theory or ask any further questions even later, as we understood that the church had to follow the Pope's decrees.

An Ex-Ministry of Justice official Jonathan Mcloughlin, after having watched Shen Yun's performance on 4, May 2023 Sydney, Australia, said: "The traditional Chinese culture displayed by Shen Yun pays attention to respecting heaven and believing in God". Mcloughlin thinks it is a very important idea. " If we don't believe in God, we're like animals", he said, evolution means we're constantly evolving but humans haven't evolved, actually we have gone backwards". When people think they've achieved and accomplished something it makes them feel great, they have therefore no need of God. I know this is the Chinese Communist Party's logic. They are atheists, believing only in themselves. Mcloughlin believes that is why they do bad things and think they can get away with it. I saw this reported in the Epoch Times and I understand Mr Mcloughlin's meaning. As he was a ex-justice official working who had worked in the court, he had unparalleled experience of criminal behavior.

At a later stage, I found some information on a website:

1. The Christian church has long been hostile to Darwin because his theory conflicted with the literal biblical account of creation.
2. In the 1950s, Pope Pius's Catholic teaching on creation could coexist with any theory of evolution.
3. Pope John II went a bit further in 1996, calling evolution "more than just a hypothesis".

At that time the Pope announce his acceptance of Darwin's Theory, China also announced they would open the door to the world. Most Governments, organizations and companies in the world make their decisions according to current trend. If they do not follow these trends they will get left behind.

Competition is how human survive, it's a how human beings do things, whether right or wrong. Religions are man made, they can not represent God, that's for sure, as mistakes would be made - there are no perfect people in the world.

Mr Mcloughlin saw that humankind was slow to understand. He had the right idea. From 1970s to 2020s, the economic growth, and developments in electronic products, have impacted the world but people's morality has declined; people don't believe in existence of God. Even my husband said ' Show me the ghost when you catch it and I will believe in ghosts'. [He means that if there are Gods, we must have ghosts too].

Fortunately, the spiritual leader and founder of Falun Gong, Master Li Hongzhi published a series of articles. " How Humankind Came To Be", and Why The Creator To Save All People. In the articles he explained the true history of the universe. The Master's words are like a light that guides us out of the confusion and chaos of today's way of life.
